About the book

This book reviews our understanding of tree and fruit physiology and how it can be used in breeding better varieties. It also discusses pests and diseases and ways they can be prevented or controlled to make cultivation more productive. It will be a standard reference for fruit and horticultural scientists in universities, government and other research centres and companies producing apples.

About the editor

Dr Kate Evans is Professor of Horticulture at the Tree Fruit Research and Extension Center at Washington State University, USA.

Achieving sustainable cultivation of apples

Edited by Kate Evans, Washington State University, USA

Part 1 Plant physiology and breeding

1. Ensuring the genetic diversity of apples: Gayle M. Volk, USDA-ARS-CARR National Laboratory for Genetic Resources Preservation, USA
2. The apple genome - harbinger of innovation for sustainable apple production: Amit Dhingra, Washington State University, USA
3. Advances in understanding apple tree growth: rootstocks and planting systems: Dugald C. Close and Sally A. Bound, University of Tasmania, Australia
4. Advances in understanding apple tree growth: the manipulation of tree growth and development: Dugald C. Close and Sally A. Bound, University of Tasmania, Australia
5. Advances in understanding flowering and pollination in apple trees: Peter M. Hirst, Purdue University, USA
6. Advances in understanding apple fruit development: A.N. Lakso and M. C. Goffinet, Cornell University, USA
7. Evaluating and improving rootstocks for apple cultivation: G. Fazio, USDA-ARS/Cornell University, USA
8. Advances in marker-assisted breeding of apples: K. Evans and C. Peace, Washington State University, USA

Part 2 Cultivation techniques

9. Innovations in apple tree cultivation to manage crop load and ripening: Stefano Musacchi, Washington State University, USA; and Duane Greene, University of Massachusetts, USA
10. Advances in soil and nutrient management in apple cultivation: G. H. Neilsen, D. Neilsen and T. Forge, Summerland Research and Development Centre Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada; and K. Hannam, Natural Resources Canada

11. Mechanization and automation for apple production: Q. Zhang, M. Karkee and L. R. Khot, Washington State University, USA
12. Sustainable approaches to control postharvest diseases of apples: W. J. Janisiewicz and W. M. Jurick II, USDA-ARS, USA
13. Advances in postharvest handling and storage of apples: Christopher B. Watkins, Cornell University, USA

Part 3 Diseases and pests

14. Pre- and postharvest fungal apple diseases: Wayne M. Jurick II, USDA-ARS, USA and Kerik D. Cox, Cornell University, USA
15. Management of viruses and virus-like agents affecting apple production: Kenneth C. Eastwell, Washington State University, USA
16. Bacterial diseases affecting apples: John Norelli, USDA-ARS, USA
17. Sustainable arthropod management for apples: Elizabeth H. Beers, Washington State University, USA
18. Advances in pest- and disease-resistant apple varieties: Markus Kellerhals, Agroscope, Switzerland

Part 3 Sustainability

19. The economics of apple production: R. Karina Gallardo, Washington State University, USA; and Hildegard Garming, Thünen Institute of Farm Economics, Germany
20. Consumer trends in apple sales: Desmond O'Rourke, Washington State University and Belrose Inc., USA
21. Assessing the environmental impact and sustainability of apple cultivation: D. Granatstein, Washington State University, USA; and G. Peck, Cornell University, USA
22. Growing organic apples in Europe: Jutta Kienzle, Independent Researcher, Germany; and Markus Kelderer, Research Station of Laimburg, Italy
